THE NEVADA SENATORSHIP.

Prospect of a Very Lively Fight.

What Is Being Said About It and The "Sack."

The discussion of the pending Senatorial situation is becoming interesting. Under date of the 12th the San Francisco Chronicle has a lengthy special dispatch from Washington, which reads as follows:

There are two headquarters for Nevada politicians—one in this city when Congress is in session, and the other in San Francisco. The little group of Nevadans here held a conference a few days ago, when the next political campaign in that State was outlined. Nevada promises to be the theater of great political interest next Fall. The struggle will have two phases. First, it will be spectacular and sensational, for it will be the duelling ground of two angry and revengeful millionaires, who, instead of gratifying their enmity with the rapier or pistol, will seek to overwhelm each other with political defeat. On the other hand, there will be a vital principle running through the campaign which may excite a fervor like that which thrilled the old Scotch Covenanters. The end of the struggle will be the election of a United States Senator.

The spectacular side of the contest will be the conflict between John W. Mackay and James G. Fair, the two bonanza millionaires, who have fallen out. The moral phase of the struggle will be whether the people of Nevada will put up their highest political honor on the auction block to be knocked down to the highest bidder. It is said by Nevadans who are here that there is a widespread indignation among the people of the Silver State at the reproach that is cast upon their community because of the alleged venality of the elections, and it said that an almost universal desire to redeem the State from this stain will be the strongest feeling evoked by the campaign. It is predicted that the battery of the honest Nevadans will be the pure election of a citizen for Senator. The feeling against electing men who live in California to be Senators of Nevada is as strong with the better element as the desire for a pure election. This will be the moral phase of the fight, and it is said that the tide is already rising all over the State, which may be so full and strong that all the political structures of the millionaires may be swept away in ruin.

The man who is mentioned as the choice for United States Senator of this honest home rule is ex-Congressman Wren. The other phase of the contest will be the clash between Fair and Mackay. The secret of the hospitality between these two men is unknown, but that it is intense and bitter is beyond doubt. Fair has announced to his friends that it is his sole ambition to be re-elected. It is said that he has remained in San Francisco so long after the opening of Congress to lay the wires for his re-election. It is contrary to the etiquette of the Senate for a member to leave his seat to participate in a campaign for his own election, but it is quite customary for a Senator to remain at home until he has his forces put in shape for the election.

Fair's lieutenants in Nevada are Governor Adams, Judge Belknap and ex-Congressman Cassidy. These gentlemen are already at work doing the preliminary business of the campaign. It has been said that Mackay himself would be a candidate for the Senatorship, but this is authoritatively denied. He will support ex-Senator Stewart. Besides Mackay's potent aid, Stewart will have behind him the Central Pacific Railroad and the Sharen estate. These will be three powerful influences. The only Republican of great strength who has not been brought into line by Mackay is Senator Jones, who is in favor of W. S. Hobart for Senator. The preliminary battle will be for the control of the Legislature. Fair will have to face the combined opposition of the home rulers, who have Wren, a Republican, at their head; the power of Mackay, who will make a money fight, and the weight of Jones, who has a long term ahead of him. It is predicted here that Fair will go down under all this opposition and that the Republicans will control the Legislature, when the battle will be narrowed between the home rulers and the millionaire candidates.

The Candelaria True Fissure of Saturday last frankly expresses itself in the annexed:

As the year grows older the question as to who shall next represent us in the United States Senate becomes of more absorbing interest. It appears to be a settled fact with the inactive body of politicians that Fair is not succeed himself. But this idea should not cause the more interested and active workers to take Fair's defeat for granted and cease working to that end with all their might.

There are two very important objects to be considered by all true Nevadans in the campaign about to be begun. The paramount one is to make sure of Fair's defeat, and the other is to select as the man to succeed him a Nevadan to represent Nevada.

There are several names now prominent before the people and a unanimous selection should be made by the Republicans in time to cement all interests in a solid fight.

Ex-Senator Stewart has the advantage of having held the office once and its duties and the necessary parliamentary tactics would therefore be familiar to him. It is true that he has not been a bona fide resident of Nevada for several years past, but he is building a fine house in Carson and intends residing with us in the future. Of his ability there can be no two opinions. His lectures and essays on the silver question show a massive brain and a firm friend to our cause.

Ex-Congressman Wren is also an avowed candidate for the position. He has represented us in the lower House and would have the experience gained there to aid him. He is an able lawyer and has devoted a great deal of time and money to the development of the resources of the eastern portion of the State.

General Fowling is a representative product of Nevada. Here he has lived the most useful portion of a life still in the prime and vigor of young manhood, and here all his business and political success has been achieved. There is one thing certain. Should Fowling be chosen as the people's representative in the United States Senate, Nevada's interests would at all times be carefully and ably looked after. During his few years of service in the State Legislature, both as a Senator and a lobbyist, he accomplished more for Washoe county than any other man in the State has done for his particular section. Should he succeed in his laudable ambition, he would carry the same zeal into the National Legislature that he has ever exercised at home.

While on the Senatorial subject, we cannot refrain from expressing our surprise that the Democratic party will passively submit to the leadership of an ignoramus like Jim Fair, when it has available men of the character and ability of A. C. Ellis, George W. Cassidy and John H. Dennis.

The Austin Reveille, in its issue of the 12th, is anxious to know why the "sack" is so powerful, and what the people are going to do about it this Fall. It remarks:

There is to be an election in this State next Fall, and officers from a U. S. Senator down to School Trustees are to be selected. Election day is about nine months off yet, but we already begin to hear the merits of many men canvassing for every position to be filled. Strange as it may seem the aforesaid canvassing is not as to the ability of the aspirant to fill the particular office, not by any means, but it is simply a discussion as to the length of his sack or the number of his steers. In other words how much money will he be able to throw into the campaign to buy purchasable voters. It is simply a question it seems, of corruption, nothing more nor nothing less.

This is a humiliating admission to make, it is true, but it is not the plain unvarnished fact of the case? Nor is this confined to any party—not by any manner of means, for we find the candidates of each side canvassed just as anxiously as to their wealth and moneyed backing. One distinguished Senator has said that "millions might be spent and no man corrupted." Just how this can be done is not so plain. True brass bands, torchlight processions, election tickets, etc., cost money, but these do not eat into the sacks like the $5 and $10 bids for votes among the ignorant and vicious whose ballots count for just as much in this "asylum for the oppression of all nations," as do those of Cleveland, Blaine, Thurman or Edmunds.

Who are to blame for this but the people themselves. A noted writer on political economy lays down the broad statement as an axiom, that the people elected to represent are as good as the people themselves, that the same corruption which is used by the candidate is in force largely among the people. This being true why need we kick when a legislator sells out to a monopoly or goes back on his pledges. He is but doing what his constituents did before him, and if they suffer from it it is simply "ob chickens coming home to roost." That's all.

Let's suppose a case to illustrate: Suppose now that Daniel Webster (a poor man, but with an intellect towering above all others) were to be a candidate for U. S. Senator for Nevada, what earthly chance would he have if Mackay or Fair ran against him and made it a moneyed fight? This is not politics, it is a plain question, which we leave our readers to answer for themselves.

It must not be inferred from this that all the people of Nevada sell out. Such an idea would be grossly incorrect and unjust, for our voters will average as high as those of any State in the Union. The great trouble is the smallness of the number of our citizens. There are probably 14,000 votes in the State—a reasonably sized New York City ward. This handful is so nearly divided politically that a change of 500 votes in the State will throw the result either way. It thus becomes a mere question of figures and—money. The respectable upright citizen is not approached. It is the other kind, and the result shows the accuracy of the figures and the potency of the sack.

ENGLAND'S UNEMPLOYED.

Stops at Leicester—A Deputation Wait on Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The striking operatives in the hosiery factories at Leicester renewed their riotous demonstrations to-day. They attacked and sacked several houses. The police frequently charged the strikers during the day, and in each instance were resisted, many of the policemen being injured. The authorities, alarmed by the aggressiveness of the strikers, and seeing that the regular police were inadequate to cope with the disorderly element, have ordered the appointment of special policemen, and a number of citizens are now being sworn in to do duty as such.

Burns, Hyndman, Champion, Watts and Williams, the leaders who managed the Trafalgar Square meeting last Saturday, called in a body to-day at Gladstone's official residence in Downing street for the purpose of obtaining an interview with that gentleman. Gladstone was absent at the time of the visit and his secretary received the callers. The Socialists said that the object of their visit was to obtain from Gladstone some declaration of the Government's intention with regard to affording relief to the unemployed workmen of the country by means of public works. They desired to obtain this information before stamping the country in the impending labor agitation in order to be able to carry as much encouragement as possible to the people. Gladstone's Secretary advised the deputation to call at the office of the Secretary for Home Affairs, as the subject was not one properly pertaining to the Treasury Department, of which Gladstone is the first lord. This reply was received with dissatisfaction and the deputation handed the Secretary a document for Gladstone's perusal. This is in the nature of a formal declaration insisting, on behalf of the unemployed workmen, that the Government take immediate steps to relieve their pressing needs.

A Jersey City Mystery.

On Friday night last Mrs. Charles S. Hogan, wife of a Panama railroad conductor, who resides in an apartment house at Jersey avenue and Eighth street, Jersey city, New Jersey, called a little boy who was passing to get her a physician. She was about to be confined and as Dr. Holcomb, who lived near by had attended her, she asked the boy to summon him. In a few minutes the boy returned with a man who said he was Dr. A. T. Sayers. As Mrs. Hogan was in a critical condition, she accepted his services. He immediately put her under the influence of ether. When she recovered from the effects of the drug she was alone in the room. The child, of which she had been delivered, had disappeared and the only evidence left in the room was a small package which contained a little curl of golden hair. Mrs. Hogan is of the opinion that the doctor either killed the child by mistake or was trying to secure a subject. There is no physician in Jersey City by the name of Sayers. The police are searching for the alleged physician and the boy who brought him to the house.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General has received special reports from thirty leading Postoffices of the country, showing an increase in the revenue of the Postoffice Department on the first-class matter for the month of January, 1886, to have been $83,909. The per cent. of increase was 6.26. Among the offices showing the largest increase were: New York, $26,174; Chicago, $15,269; St. Louis, $8,998; Cincinnati, $6,714; Cleveland, $1,370; Detroit, $3,446; Kansas City, $3,173; St. Paul, $2,836; Minneapolis, $1,429, and Toledo, $1,097. The following offices show a decrease as mentioned below: Baltimore, $5,465; San Francisco, $3,334; Pittsburg, $2,813; New Orleans, $4,985, and Milwaukee, $926.

ON THE CATTLE RANGES.

Condition of the Stock and Estimated Losses from the Cold Weather.

Voluminous reports concerning the condition of cattle from the great stock ranges are published, which may be summarized as follows: In Texas the loss along the northern tier of the Panhandle counties, where prairie fires destroyed the feed, is heavy, and on the ranges south of Mobeetie and Fort Elliot the loss is estimated at 30 per cent. It is claimed, however, that on the whole the loss in Texas will only be about 5 per cent. In Montana the stock is in good condition; the cattle have wintered well so far. In Manitoba the ranchmen report a favorable winter and cattle coming through in fine condition. In Kansas, in the western part of the State, there was a heavy loss on account of the unparalleled blizzard in January. Stockmen admit that the number of cattle frozen in the country tributary to Dodge City, will reach 25,000 head. In Colorado the cattle on the plains have stood the winter well and the losses are less than 10 per cent. In some of the mountain parks there is still danger of great losses, as the ranges are overstocked and the feed is scarce. In Wyoming the cattle have never experienced a better winter. There has been no snow since January 1st, and the warm weather kept the streams open. Along the Platte for three weeks the mercury has ranged 63 to 70° above zero. The loss will exceed one per cent.

THE CALIFORNIA MARSHALSHIP.

Frank's Appointment Will Not Be Taken Up Out of Order.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Chronicle correspondent asked Senator Edmunds this afternoon whether the nomination of Christopher Franks, recently appointed Marshal of California, would be acted upon before the 20th of the month, when the term of the present Marshal expires. The law states explicitly that a United States Marshal shall not hold longer than the term for which he is appointed, unless reappointed. Edmunds said he would not take Franks' appointment up out of its turn and that it would not probably be reached for several months. In that event California will be without a Marshal from the 20th of this month till Franks is confirmed. The law provides for such an emergency and says that the Circuit Judge shall appoint a Marshal to act till the President appoints and the Senate confirms a man. Judge Field, therefore, will have the appointment of a Marshal. Whom he will appoint is not known.

The annexed is taken from the San Francisco Post:

The havoc which death has recently been making among distinguished men points the moral of the vanity of ambition. Tilden is the only individual now living, with the exception of Cleveland, who since 1856 has been a candidate for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket. Breckinridge and Lane, Bell and Everett, Douglas and Johnson—the candidates of 1860, are all dead. So is McClellan, but George H. Pendleton, the nominee with him for Vice President, has escaped the common fate, and is now Minister to Germany. Horatio Seymour has just gone, having long survived his companion on the ticket, Francis P. Blair, Jr. Horace Greely and B. Gratz Brown are gone, and so is Thomas A. Hendricks. W. H. English, who ran with Hancock, is still in the flesh and still making money. On the Republican side the destroyer has been almost as busy. Hannibal Hamlin, who was elected with Lincoln in 1860, survives. Andrew Johnson, his successor as Vice President in 1864, Grant and Schuyler Colfax, Henry Wilson and Garfield have all been laid low. Hayes, Wheeler and Arthur remain.

The Lyon County Times says: The name of Governor Kinkead has been mentioned for Governor. No better man could be elected to the office, and what is more, no one could be nominated who would be more likely to win. Governor Kinkead is a gentleman in every respect, and as his previous administration shows, is capable of filling the highest office to which the people can elect him.

"Industrial" is the very latest word which has been developed at the East. Any man who is ashamed of the ancient and honorable word "workman," or thinks himself lowered by being hired, is welcome to use it.

GOLD-BAG ADMINISTRATION.

Efforts of the Republican Party to Extend the Use of Silver.

The New York Tribune has an editorial headed "Gold-Bag Administration," in which it says: The debate in the Senate discloses some of the ordinary means by which the use of silver and silver certificates has been promoted under past administrations. The important feature of the debate is that it shows that the Republican Administrations have not tried to stop the use of silver as has been so often charged, but have in fact strained the power of the Government to the utmost to get silver and silver certificates used more largely. In the far southwest, on account of the expense of transporting other money from New York, the merchants and bankers were easily induced to take silver dollars out of the sub-Treasury there for the payment for products. The silver thus used being too bulky to be conveniently kept in considerable amounts, quickly came back from the producer to the merchant and banker and they then were permitted by the Assistant Treasurer of New Orleans to get silver certificates for coin before it is counted. The Treasury thus saved them all delay and trouble, in the use of more bulky and inconvenient money by taking all the risk and burden upon the Government. But now the Administration has considered that it had no right to favor bankers and merchants to this extent, and at once a great outcry is raised that the Administration is making war on silver. Some members of Congress, nevertheless, will stand up unflinchingly in the Senate and House and assert that previous administrations deliberately kept silver out of circulation and were used as tools by the money power at New York.

The San Francisco Post remarks that while no new and important developments of ore have been made in any of the Comstock mines, so far as known, during the past week, the prospects of several of them continue sufficiently good to encourage shareholders. A vast block of unopened and easily accessible ground awaits exploration in the middle mines. The yield of ore from the old bonanza ground continue large and is said to have improved in quality over that extracted during the previous week. Some very important exploratory work is being done in the upper levels of the more northerly mines. The Gold Hill mines are yielding large quantities of milling ore. The experiments now being made with the new process of concentrating ores bid fair to have a vital bearing on the future of the great lode.

LONG TERM SENATORS.—The longest term of service in the Senate was that of Thomas H. Benton, who served thirty years, or five consecutive terms. The nearest to Benton's term was that of the late Senator Anthony, of Rhode Island, who was elected to his fifth consecutive term but died soon after entering the last. Of the living public men, we do not recall another but General Cameron, of modern times, who can divide honors with Sherman on a fourth election to the Senate. Cameron was elected in 1845, again in 1857, again in 1867 and finally in 1873. Sherman is now alone in the Senate as the survivor of the Senate in 1861. Vermont is next in the length of service of her Senators—Edmunds dating from 1866 and Morrill from 1867. Of the memorable Senate that met the shock of the civil war, Sherman only remains in the body, and, after Edmunds and Morrill, none of his Republican colleagues goes back beyond a single decade, except Logan, who has just entered his third term, but was out from 1877 to 1879. Sherman is, therefore, nearly a half a score of years ahead of all as the Father of the Senate, and his vigorous health at sixty-three, gives fair promise that he may continue as the paternal saint of the body until the 4th of March, 1893.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: It is rumored that Mr. H. A. Clawson, the gentlemanly proprietor of the Depot Hotel at Ogden, is soon to take charge of the eating houses along the line of the Central Pacific between Ogden and San Francisco. Mr. Clawson has the reputation of being the best manager of railroad eating houses on the Pacific Coast, and it would seem that the C. P. Company has discovered the fact, and intends to take advantage of it by placing all of the eating houses under his charge. It will not be long before Mr. C. will have all the houses under his charge up to the same degree of excellence to which he has brought the Depot Hotel of Ogden, and the traveling public will soon find all meals served along the line of the C. P. will be first-class in every particular.

UNIVERSITY MATTERS.
The New Building Accepted—Principal Selected—Public Land Restored to the Old Figures.
The Board of Regents met yesterday. Shaw and Getchell present. Mr. Rand was absent on account of sickness.
The new University building was formally accepted from the contractors, Burke Bros., the Regents expressing themselves highly pleased with the material, and manner of its construction. All bids were unbid.
Prof. J. W. McCammon, of Enreka county, was elected Principal.
A Mr. Kendall was appointed Janitor.
The course of studies was adopted, and it was decided to open the University on the first Monday in March.
The Board also rescinded its former action in regard to the price of State lands, restoring the figures in vogue prior to the raise.

WESTERN STOCK RANGES.
The Other side of Mount Davidson—Working Mines and Prospecting Locations.
The Enterprise says:
The fine weather of the last week or two having disposed of the snow and disposed chronic prospectors to start out in some direction in search of good mining locations, quite a number have been turning their attention to the good prospects on the western slope of Mount Davidson. Several new locations have been recorded, and prospecting parties are investigating the merits of several ledge locations, both new and old. The chances are that good paying mines will be opened in that section during the coming season.
The famous Norrie mine is being actively worked. The shaft has been continued down below the small rich vein which was discovered and passed through 135 feet from the surface, and is nearly or quite 200 feet deep. Norrie's "mineral indicator" calls for a silver ledge in that direction, and it is proposed to sink to it, unless prevented by too much water. It is also proposed to open a station at the 135 foot level, and drift north and south on the gold vein passed through at that point. This shows only eight inches thick in the shaft, but prospects richly in free gold, and, according to the "indicator," must prove extensive and rich. That very rich stringer evidently belongs to something. During the past week regular vein porphyry, full of sulphurets, has been encountered in the bottom of the shaft, just like what is found on the Comstock.
A few weeks ago Norrie, with his "indicator" made a location of a rich gold ledge not far from the Harris mine for parties who are to pay him $500 for his arduous services. He stated it to be 165 feet below the surface, and they have been diligently sinking for it, full of faith and hope. Their shaft is now down about 130 feet, and they expect soon to rip up free gold with the points of their picks.
Dick Thomas' mine is being actively developed, with four men employed. The shaft or incline is down 130 feet and a drift is soon to be started. There are two veins—one running north and south, carrying silver and gold, and a cross vein, carrying gold principally. The proposed drift will cut and explore both.
The Harris mine has been leased to parties who have extended some sixty tons of ore, which they are about having milled. Occasional bunches of very rich free gold ore, for which this mine was noted a year or two ago, are still met with, but the cream in that respect has been pretty well gouged out.

Promoted.
Captain E. J. Spaulding, of Fort Bidwell, has been promoted to the rank of Major, and will soon be transferred to a military post in Dakota. Capt. Spaulding will be sadly missed, for he is a man loved by his subordinates, and respected by the community in which he has lately resided. He is to be succeeded at Bidwell by Captain Auger, son of General Auger, of Washington.

A Railroad for the Yosemite.
The Southern Pacific Company will complete as fast as possible, probably by March 20th, twenty-two miles of railroad to connect with the new Yosemite wagon road, which will shorten the time between Madera and Clark's seven hours. Instead of 11 hours' stage ride, as formerly, it will then be but seven.
